

Happiness

God wants me to share my happiness.

Come and share your...happiness!
Matthew 25:21

Jason's Penguins

"Can I call Grandpa?" Jason asked as he came through the front door. Jason's whole family had just come home from visiting the children's zoo. He had waited all year for the penguin exhibit, and when he finally saw it, a feeling of wonderful warmth and joy flowed through him. Jason was so happy about seeing the penguins that he just had to call and tell Grandpa all about it.

"Here you go," Mommy said as she dialed Grandpa's number and handed Jason the receiver.

"Grandpa, Grandpa," Jason yelled when he heard his grandpa's voice "you'll never believe what I saw today!"

Jason talked and talked. He was so happy about the penguins that soon Grandpa was feeling happy, too. He told Jason about when he was little and went to the zoo, and the animals he was happy to see. Jason and Grandpa were happy together.

Jason was so happy about the penguins that he wanted to share his happiness with his grandpa. That's wonderful. God wants for you to share your happiness with others. If they see how happy you are, maybe they will want to welcome God into their lives, too!

Your Turn

1. Can you think of something that makes you happy, and that you'd like to share?
2. Why does God want you to share your happiness?

Prayer

God, thank You for giving me so many happy things to share. Amen.
